The Hailey “Days of the Old West” - Queen Pageant (hereafter referred to as Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant and/or Pageant). It is a multiple day event involving numerous activities including both pre-pageant and post-pageant events as well as the pageant itself. Your participation in this event is a voluntary activity and is subject to the rules and regulations of the Hailey “Days of the Old West”.

Many of the activities in which you will be involved are dangerous, hazardous and involve certain risks. AS A CONDITION TO YOUR PARTICIPATION in the Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant, you must carefully review this document, acknowledge your understanding thereof, and agree to assume the risks of all activities involved in the pageant by waiving all claims you might otherwise have for any injuries or damages you may suffer, even if caused by the negligence of Hailey “Days of the Old West”, its employees, agents, board, or volunteers.

This document shall disclose the type and nature of many of the risks and types of injuries you may incur as a result of participating in the Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant.

ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS:

Although many of the activities you will be asked to be involved in seem safe, there are many dangers and risks you may encounter which are too numerous to completely list. The Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant is a relatively high profile, competitive and exciting event. It involves several competitive events in a row with schedules starting before eight a.m. (8:00 a.m.) and possibly not being completed until five p.m. (5:00 p.m.) or later.

Aside from the interviews, rehearsals, receptions, lunches, dinners, tours, performances, and travel between the scheduled locations, there is also a horsemanship competition on horses, which you will not be familiar with. Much of the time, large crowds will be present and may attempt unpredictable and aggressive behavior towards you or your competitors. In addition, the stress of a statewide competition may have an effect on you or your co-competitors, all of which may subject you to dangerous circumstances.

WARNING:

Participation in any pageant may likely involve injury or risks of some type to either yourself or a competitor. Such injury can include direct physical and possibly crippling injury to one’s body and the possibility of emotional injury experience due to stress, as a result of witnessing injury to another or as a result of experiencing pain and/or injury to your own body. The severity of such injury may range from minor muscle strains, cuts, scrapes, to catastrophic injury, such as complete paralysis, or even death. Such injuries can impair your general physical and mental health, your appearances and hinder your future ability to earn a living, to engage in other business, social and recreational activities and generally to enjoy life.

The entire event generally, and the horsemanship competition in particular, as well as traveling between the various sites, are all inherently dangerous. As in all competitions, participation in the Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant involves many RISKS OF SERIOUS INJURY OR DEATH. Because it is a large, multiple day competition involving long days, traveling between numerous sites, crowds and horse riding on unfamiliar horses, this event, more so than other events, involve risks of severe injury. Participants are also susceptible to death or injury resulting from such causes as head injuries, internal injuries, heart failure, asthmatic attack on sickle cell crisis, congenital brain defects, and from natural causes of other congenital problems. In addition, there is the possibility of suffering emotional distress or psychological injury as a result of participating in this pageant.

Common injuries sustained as a result of participation include knee injuries; strains and contusions of the thigh, calf; shoulder, arm and other muscles; shin splints, ankle injuries; shoulder injuries; back injuries; torso injuries; knee injuries; sprains, dislocations, and fractures of the hands and wrists. Common injuries to the head and neck include contusions and muscle strains and nerve impairment. Other common types of injuries involve fractures, bruises, cuts, scrapes, sprains, strains, torn ligaments, and blisters. Injuries can result from the correct or incorrect performance of techniques or other moves used either in horse riding or merely walking. These injuries may be caused by turning, stopping, jumping, riding and any other similar undertakings. Injury to the head or other part of the body may result in contact with other participants, animals, bystanders, fences, stairs, stages, and other solid objects in and around the area in the various sites. Injury can result from miss-fitted, worn or improper equipment, saddles and tack. Injury can result from practice procedures, from proper or improper use of saddles and tack; from the administration of first aid; or from failing to follow any safety, training or other rules. The use of transportation provided or arranged by the Hailey “Days of the Old West” to and from the various scheduled events and other related activities also involve the risk of injury or death.

THE PURPOSE OF THE WARNING is to bring to your attention the existence of potential dangers associated with participation. There is, however, always the risk of other types of injuries or the risk of injury or death resulting from other causes not specified herein.

THE PURPOSE OF THE WARNING is also to aid you in making an informed decision as to whether you should participate in the Miss Hailey “Days of the Old West” Pageant and as a condition of such participation

YOU MUST SIGN AN ASSUMPTION OF RISK AND RELEASE AGREEMENT .
